ABSTRACT

This resource bibliography with over 500 descriptive annotations on Canada, a product of a conference on Canadian Studies held at the University of Maine, Orono, in September, 1969, is designed to make teachers of social studies and other fields at both the elementary and secondary levels more aware of the variety of available teaching materials on Canada, dating from the 1930's through 1970, and also some of the sources from which they may be obtained. The bibliography is divided into four parts with book entries arranged alphabetically by author, serials by title, and most other materials by publisher. The four parts are: 1) an introduction; 2) a list of history and social studies texts and supplemental readings, fiction, books in series, serials and publishers addresses; 3) enumeration of commercial and government teaching aids and audiovisual materials, including listings of prepared source materials, sources of visual aids, and lists of artists, books, magazines and publishers in the field of music and art; and, 4) the identification of general sources of information available in Canada and from international agencies. Complete bibliographic information is provided along with prices, publishers, and indication of the appropriate grade level. (Author/SJM)

I. Introduction

I. Introduction

This resource bibliography on Canada is designed to make teachers in many fields at both elementary and secondary levels more aware of the variety of teaching materials available on Canada, and also of some of the sources from which they may be obtained. It is the outgrowth of a conference on Canadian Studies held at the University of Maine, Orono, in September, 1969, under the auspices of the New England-Atlantic Provinces-Quebec Center. The Center was established at the University in 1968 to promote regional studies and activities, and has been assisted since 1970 by a grant from the William H. Donner Foundation. One of the Center's continuing projects has been the attempt to broaden the knowledge and understanding of Canada in American educational institutions, especially those of Maine and New England. Discussions with the Maine Council on Canadian Studies, and with other interested individuals and groups, indicated that a survey of teaching materials on Canada would be a useful means of promoting a knowledge of that country.

This bibliography and resource directory was prepared under the direction of two staff members of the New England-Atlantic Provinces-Quebec Center, Professors Alice R. Stewart and William J. McAndrew. Mrs. Sarah Mercer and Mrs. Patricia Guptill were the principal compilers of the material. It is the first in what is planned as a series of Center publications. The staff would like to acknowledge the aid of the many government departments, business firms, and others who have contributed to the compiling of these lists. Special acknowledgement should be made for the assistance of Professors Edward J. Miles and William C. Metcalfe of the University of Vermont Canadian Studies Center, Professors James R. Miller and Edward D. Ives of the University of Maine, the staff of the Johns Hopkins Canadian Studies Center, and the information divisions of the Boston Consulate General and of the Canadian Embassy in Washington. Of great help in the preparation of this bibliography were the official textbook lists published by the various Departments of Education of the Canadian provinces, especially Ontario, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick. Useful material was also found in Books About Canada, published by the Information Division of the Department of External Affairs of Canada, and the Basic Book List for Canadian Schools, published by the Canadian Library Association.

Many of the books and magazines may be obtained from the Fogler Library of the University of Maine, Orono, and the Bangor Public Library. Inquiries should be sent to:

III. Teaching Aids and Audio-Visual Materials

III. Teaching Aids and Audio-Visual Materials

Canada provides an unusually rich field for the use of audio-visual materials. In addition to the opportunities for making use of materials and pictures which teachers or students may themselves have from Canadian trips or projects, there are many government and commercial sources of films, filmstrips, slides, artifacts, records, charts, and maps, some addresses for which are given here.

There are also now being published collections of reproductions and primary source materials, such as the Jackdaw series, which help to bring to life for students the period or subject under discussion. A selected list of musicians, books and magazines on music, and music publishers is given below. Some of the records may be obtained from the publishers or from U. S. record stores. A selected list of Canadian artists is also given. Some prints and some slides are available from the National Gallery in Ottawa.

A. PREPARED SOURCE MATERIALS

1. Clarke, Irwin Jackdaws. Jackdaws are folders filled with copies of historical reproductions — documents, newspaper clippings, recordings, tickets, photographs, posters — in fact, anything from the period that can bring the past to life.
